

Mineralife Ionic Minerals are meticulously prepared from a pure (up to 99.999%) elemental source in the purest energy enhanced structured water (a multi-step purification and energizing process) called QFE-Water* (Quantum Field Enhanced Water). Mineralife, through a complex proprietary process, liquefies minerals to a highly bio-available form of mineral that is non-metallic, simple, nano-sized ionic form. The ionic charge is the opposite of the charge of the intestinal walls, which allows the minerals to be automatically drawn to the walls of the intestines, with an absorbed rate near 100%. Mineralife's process closely resembles the dynamic and intricate functions of nature offering a mineral nutrition delivery system in line with nature's own design.

"The result is superior absorption and assimilation of mineral nutrition into our bodies' cells"

Because these water-soluble minerals are not necessarily dependent on the digestive tract of the body for complete absorption, they work exceptionally well for people with compromised digestive systems. Much easier for children and older people to swallow than pills or capsules!

According to Dr. Pauling and others, all diseases and disorders can be controlled, if not eliminated, by giving the body the nutrition it needs to fight the energy imbalances. Mineralife can supply you with liquid ionic nano-sized minerals in mineral formulations specifically designed for your active, healthy life.

Dr. Linus Pauling

Liquid Ionic Minerals For Life!

Looking for a Superior Product?

“99% of the American people are deficient in these minerals, and a marked deficiency in any one of the more important minerals actually results in disease.”

Most people think of minerals as being necessary only for strong teeth and bones, but minerals do far more than that. Minerals are essential for good health. The body utilizes and requires over 80 minerals for complete balanced health. Every living cell depends on for proper structure, function and electrical conductivity. Minerals are needed for the formation of blood, bones and the proper composition of body fluids, healthy nerve function, and proper operation of the cardiovascular system, etc. Iron for your blood, sulfur for your muscles, and calcium for your bones. All of our body processes depend upon the action of minerals to activate the enzymes which perform bodily functions, including energy production, growth and healing.

Minerals participate in nearly every one of the thousands of biochemical processes that occur in the body every second.

The key to health and well being is found in maintaining a solid nutritional foundation.

Optimum Cellular Absorption Requires Optimum Mineral Form

To really understand the significance of mineral form and absorption takes an understanding of biology and chemistry. It is important to understand that in order for a mineral to be assimilated correctly at the cellular level, it must be in a form that is easily ionized and Angstrom-sized. These ionic Angstrom-sized particles, being completely water soluble, allow the minerals to be quickly and 100% absorbed in either the mouth (sublingually) or in the upper stomach where lower stomach acids will not destroy them. They are also electron enhanced so that they can participate in cellular reactions. It can also be noted that the first things to be absorbed in the human body are water and alcohol, thus ionic, water soluble minerals provide the most rapid absorption possible.

It's your health!
It's your choice . . .
. . . Choose wisely!

The purer the water the more efficiently minerals are activated into their electrically charged ionic state. Mineralife uses patent pending QFE™ water, a multi-step purified energy enhanced water.

The Bottom Line

You can ingest all the air, water, protein, carbohydrates, fats, and vitamins possible, but without a complete balance of minerals, in the correct form, you won't achieve health and wellness. When given the right form of materials the body will naturally optimize all processes and reach maximum health.
